

Raquel G. Estruch

Marga's world is shaking at its foundations, but her life changes when she meets Oscar, who let her discover her most romantic and sensual side. A story full of love, adventure and passion.

Synopsis

Could you give a second chance to a cheating ex-boyfriend? What if you do so and lose the love of your life?

Marga is a brilliant thirty year old woman, whose life tumbles into chaos when she loses her job. Besides, Andrew, the man she had shared a whole decade of her life, is leaving her for another woman. She feels defeated and depressed, because it is really difficult to accept that the person you love has found another woman so quickly.

All this will mean a new beginning for her. She knows that if you want to change your life, you are the only one who can do it. Encouraged by her friends, she decides to pursue one of her dreams: to be a writer. When she starts writing her first novel, Oscar crosses her path; he is a handsome lawyer with a magnetic personality that will turn her world upside down. She will have a sexually charged love affair with him, and will start a journey of self-discovery.

Sales pitch

-This is a lightweight novel that engages the reader from the first page. It is the perfect blend of love, sex and humor with a happy ending.

-This book tells a believable story with characters the reader can identify with, because they love and suffer for love, because they are deceived and cheated, because they try to make things work in their romantic relationships and jobs, etc.

-This work is clearly influenced by romance novel authors such as Victoria Holt, Nora Roberts, Kate Morton or Marta Rivera de la Cruz, or the last wave of chicklit representatives as Rebecca Rus, Candace Bushnell, Sophie Kinsella and Megan Maxwell.

-This title is the first part of an easy reading and gripping trilogy, which captivates the reader and it is clearly inspired by similar sagas: the saga of Valeria by Elisabet Benavent and the saga of the Walsh sisters by Marian Keyes.

-The author promotes her work actively through social networks: she has a very visited blog and nearly 2,000 followers on Twitter. She belongs to a lot of literary groups 2.0. and frequently attends literary meetings and collaborates with reading clubs of romantic and chicklit literature.
